Hybrid Learning (Chalk & Talk + Online)

In a world where the slightest edge can prove to be the biggest advantage, emerging leaders are constantly on the lookout for ways to reinvent themselves; and like a wise man once said, “the sharpest edge is knowledge. But in such times where time is a scarce resource, how does one continue to evolve their understanding? There were no ready answers, so we reinvented the way itself – by synchronising the Chalk & Talk model of learning with the Online learning model – so that you get the best of knowledge delivered to you anytime and anywhere, and learn at your convenience.

Advantage Faculty: The biggest challenge for anyone trying to deliver this hybrid model, is finding faculty that is not only on the cutting-edge of that field, but is as effective in conducting classroom sessions, as with online teaching sessions. And this is exactly what we excel at.

Advantage: Students

Over time, we had several industry experts and emerging leaders approaching us with the proposal to jointly design and implement a course curriculum customised to help upgrade the knowledge of emerging leaders. After in-depth evaluation and understanding of the various gaps and pain-points being faced by the aspirants, this new hybrid curriculum delivery system was evolved. As part of this educational experience, aspirants could attend classroom sessions on weekends when they were relatively free, while they could connect to the knowledge sessions through the week, at place and time convenient to them.
